The latest trend- Water Drills

Most of us who work in high rise offices or live in condominiums or apartment buildings are familiar with the term Fire Drill. In fact in many localities it is common practices that the local fire department come and certify the building's fire safety practices as well as train and conduct a live test of the procedures. These drills are conducted once or twice a year and presented in a manner to encourage all residents to attend each time. There is no doubt that the active participation of all residents to be trained as each person's role and what they need to do during a fire event has saved numerous lives as well as reduce damage to their property.

But did you know that the major cause of damage to property in residential and commercial damage is caused by water leakage and the resulting change in humidity that occurs.

Rapid Response

MAS' inventory of drying and dehumidification equipment as well as its large fleet allow MAS to respond to water leakage incidents in 2-4 hours 24/7 in the Bangkok metropolitan area to stop the damages caused by excess humidity such as peeling, discoloration, warping, cracking, mold, odors and the disruptions to your business or family life. MAS saves you both Time and Money.

TRAINING

MAS's technicians will come to your building and provide training about water leakage and the damage from humidity. We will train owners and tenants the steps they need to follow to contain existing damage and to prevent:

- Warping
- Discoloration
- Hazardous contamination
- Mold
- Etc.

MAS is available to help Condominium Associations and Building Managers conduct Water Drills to reduce the damage caused by most water leakage.
